Driving Success in Local Government Reorganisation Through Data-Driven Insights

Dear Chief Executive and Leader

The Government's English Devolution White Paper was unequivocal in its call for local government reorganisation, offering a transformative opportunity to create more efficient, cohesive, and future-ready structures. However, the success of this reorganisation hinges on two critical factors: achieving genuine savings and designing services that are aligned with the unique demographics and evolving needs of the geographies they will serve.

This is where data and analytics take centre stage.

In navigating such a significant restructuring process, councils must rely on accurate, timely, and actionable data to make informed decisions. The new authorities will require a granular understanding of their populations, economic landscapes, and service requirements. Yet, for many local authorities, access to this level of detailed and actionable data remains a significant challenge.

Without the right data, assumptions about savings or service design may prove inaccurate, jeopardising both the financial viability of the new structures and their ability to deliver meaningful improvements to residents. Intelligent decision-making requires precise inputs – and that's where itelligent-i can help.

At itelligent-i, we specialise in empowering local authorities to harness the transformative potential of data, analytics, and AI. As a trusted partner, we work strategically alongside councils to ensure their reorganisation journeys are underpinned by robust evidence.

We understand the immense pressure and complexity involved in reorganisation. That's why we are reaching out to offer a conversation about how we can become your trusted data partner on this journey. Together, we can ensure that your reorganisation plans are not only compliant with the Government's vision but are also underpinned by robust, data-driven foundations that set your new authority up for long-term success.

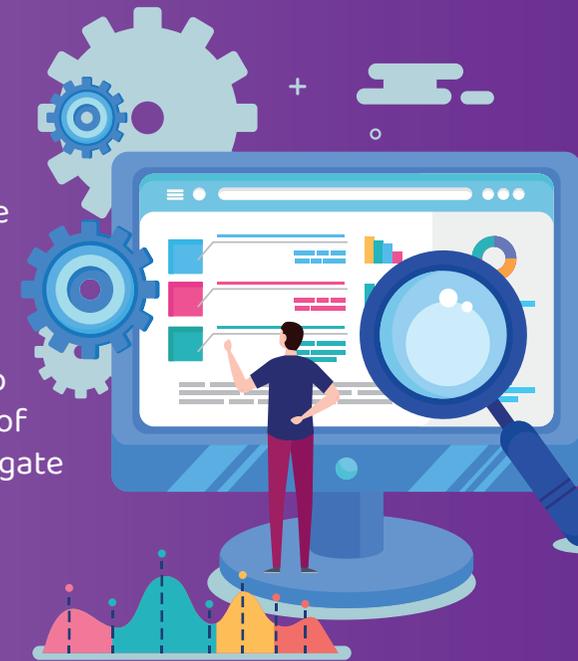

I'd welcome the opportunity to discuss this further. Please let me know a convenient time to meet, and we can explore how itelligent-i can support your council in delivering the outcomes your residents deserve.
